

A Re-introduction

Gail Belchior is a certified money coach, and an accredited financial and family mediation expert. Her mission is to make money make sense for you and your life, by offering services and solutions to develop a stress-free and deeper understanding of your relationship with money; for a better outcome.

Gail started the company, Financial Divorce Solutions, to better serve those across the Niagara Region, and beyond, who want to make the best financial decisions during an emotional and stressful time. She is passionate about personalized, professional solutions that focus on the best possible outcome.

Over the years, Gail became increasingly aware that the money profiles of her clients were holding them back from attaining happiness and living more fulfilling lives. To better serve this need, through countless hours, she worked with the Money Coaching Institute to gain her Certified Money Coaching designation.

With the business expansion of program services, to include individual and couples Money Coaching, the company name, Money Matters Services & Solutions, was registered and launched. It is with great pride she serves others to deepen their understanding of their relationship with money and help them create a better life outcome.

Money Matters Services & Solutions Inc. is a unique business that offers two distinct client-focused program services. Depending on the life circumstances and current relationship challenges regarding money we offer helpful information within the website and through working with the programs.

Outlined below are the general services offered through the two programs: Financial Relationship Solutions (FRS) and Financial Divorce Solutions (FDS).

Financial Relationship Solutions:

Everyone has a relationship with money. Some behaviours and patterns are positive, while some are more challenging or even negative. Money Coaching explores the unconscious behaviours and patterns that create stress, anxiety and fear; limiting individuals or couples from creating the life desired and deserved.

Financial Divorce Solutions:

There are three dynamics involved in every divorce – legal, financial and emotional. Divorce lawyers focus on the legal issues. An accredited Chartered Financial Divorce Specialist is an experienced financial professional who has specific training in financial issues related to divorce. Counsellors and therapists focus on the emotional well-being of the individual while moving through this transitional life phase.

Gail Belchior through Financial Divorce Solutions is a proud member of the following organizations:
