

EDI Toolkit:

Presenter Code of Conduct

To ensure that GNCC events uphold these values and are inclusive, welcoming, and productive, we request that all speakers at a GNCC event adhere to our code of conduct. A summary of the code is as follows:

- Treat all attendees, organizers, and other speakers with respect and courtesy.
- Maintain a professional demeanor, a positive tone, and refrain from negative comments about others.
- Adhere to the established guidelines and expectations set forth by the event organizers, including time allotted for a speech or presentation.
- Refrain from discriminatory or harassing remarks or engaging in behavior that could make others feel uncomfortable or unwelcome.
- Get agreement from GNCC before tackling topics or sharing personal stories, anecdotes, or examples that could potentially be sensitive or triggering for some attendees, so that appropriate content warning can be provided
- In the absence of a pre-delivered content warning, consider avoiding sensitive or triggering topics altogether.
- Be committed that the information presented is accurate and factual, and refrain from spreading misinformation and falsehoods.

Presenter Agreement:

- I have read and acknowledge the GNCC Speaker Code of Conduct, and pledge to honour the spirit of the code of conduct during my speaking engagement.
